Craig

again this morning water on the breakers since the door was open... Now I come home for lunch, 11:30am and I get to spend my lunchtime taking more pixs because I cleaned up the water this morning, now there is more back at lunch...

Please see the attached, additionally the breaker panel is now showing rust which will all need to be corrected. Additionally I'd like to see the entire inside of the panel box because if any wires or breakers or anything behind the panel is rusty or corroded, that will need to be corrected also.

Hi Craig

I left you a partial voicemail tonight (Wednesday) after we discovered while showing a friend what has been happening at our house, we open the breaker box and we saw the exact same thing tonight as has been the past week or so. The work the electrician did today made no difference what so ever..

Please see the attached pixs and I want to also find out what steps are being taken next because when the siding guy was out and he brought the brick layer in, both had mentioned weep holes + sealing all of the brick, front and side of the house.. Whatever is still allowing this water to come in is effecting other parts of the basement area now because the water in the breaker box has been for 2 + weeks now...

Please review the pictures and I need to know what is going to be done and when. I was going to call Alan tomorrow the electrician, but decided against it. Please note also if weepholes are going in the house, I don't have a problem with that, however the correct covers need to be put on the weepholes, because I don't want rodents, bugs or anything else coming in through those holes..

Please call me and let me know whats going to happen and when this is going to be over. All I need know is for the breaker box to arc and I think for the past few weeks we've been living on borrowed time and I'm not waiting until the box arcs or something worse happens.
